I told Ward they can send him over to St. Luke's, but before they do that, I wanted assurance that Hoefgen would be made available to answer any charges that may be forthcoming. So where Hoefgen went then I don't know, but the next day I received an airmail special delivery from St. Luke's, and they told me a little bit about their place out there and what was going to happen, and they assured me that he would be made available to answer any charges. Okay, then they let him go. That is where they sent him."
